

Danny Pensive

Simple, but not stupid. Innocent, but not naive and he loves life to the full. Danny travels around the UK looking at interesting stuff and getting lots of culture, then goes to clubs, reads from his turbulent diary, and talks about what he has seen and found.

Unwittingly clever, understated and the perfect antidote to the modern perception that comedy needs to be cynical to get a laugh.

Press:

"a superb creation...brilliantly done"
BBC

"Original, genuinely unpredictable and very rewarding"
Chortle

"A masterclass in understated comedy genius"
Tony Kinsella, The Unbroadcastable Radio Show

"Has some wicked asides... surely one to watch"
Don't mention the Floods Comedy Club

"By Jove he was good!"
Des Sharples, - Mirth on Monday. Manchester

"Picks up OCDs the way an aardvark picks up ants...went down a storm."
Worksop Guardian
